Speak out against the Global Forest and Paper Summit! - Rally and Celebration to Protect Our Endangered Forests!

YOUR participation really counts!

Please join the rally on WED., JUNE 1, 12:00 noon (meet at Georgia and Cardero St) in Vancouver at the Global Forest and Paper Summit to defend BC's endangered forests and species, while hundreds of the CEO's of the world's largest logging companies meet at the Westin Bayshore Hotel. Numerous environmental groups are taking part in the rally, and the WCWC will be there too. If you're in Vancouver, please let Omi or Kate know you're coming (see below for contact details) so they know how many are coming. The WCWC in Victoria is organizing a contingent to head over as well - let us know if you need a ride. It'll just be a day trip (9 am ferry, back by evening). Contact Ken Wu, Cassbreea Savage, or Pearl Gottschalk at wc2vic@island.net or call 388-9292. If you have questions about the rally itself, contact Omi and Kate (below). Everyone counts - please come on down! ----- Please spread far and wide!

caribou converging outside the conference location. If you'd like to be a caribou, wear brown or grey: we'll provide the rest! Enjoy musicians, speakers and performers. Bring your own noise-makers!

Concerned citizens from across North America are converging to celebrate and defend our remaining natural treasures and expose the hypocrisy of today's 'sustainable' corporate forest industry.

500 of the top forest executives from 27 countries, including over 60 CEOs and government representatives, are meeting in Vancouver from June 1-3 to discuss their "vision" for the next decade of the timber industry. Help send a strong message to the conference delegates that we have a better vision, a vision of true sustainability for forests, wildlife and people.
